STAR-BULLETIN 75 CENTS PER MONTH

TIME LIMIT FOR COMMITTEE WORK EXPIRES TODAY

Report on Charter Must Go to Convention Tonight; Opposition Ready for Fight

Tonight the opening guns of the big charter fight will be fired at the meeting of the charter convention at 7:30 in the main hall of the Young Hotel.

It had been hoped by the opposition to the proposed charter plans that the general discussion might precede the reading of the report of the committee of 15, but it is probable that this cannot be the order of business.

At the last meeting of the convention a resolution was passed stating that the report of the committee should be prepared and heard not later than the thirtieth day of the convention's session, which is today, and therefore the report, according to previous decision, must be read tonight.

"Action upon the report need not be taken, however," said M. C. Pacheco, chairman of the convention, this morning, "and if the convention desires, the report will remain undisturbed until the speakers who are anxious to express their views have been heard, either at a public meeting or as a committee of the whole."

The latter is probably the measure which will be adopted, as it is unusual for a legislative body to hold open public meetings for the discussion of the measures upon which it is meeting.

If this is the case an effort will be made to have the convention go into committee of the whole on Wednesday or Thursday night when the formal engagement of the two opposing forces will begin. Tonight, however, there may be some hot interchanges when the motion to hear the proposed speakers, such as Frear, Dole and others, is put forward by the minority speakers.

In case of opposition Charles Kliffingworth and other spokesmen of the short balloters have loaded their guns with hot shot for the enemy.

NEW LINE-UP OF COMMITTEES IS MADE BY MAYOR

Standing committees of the supervisors which shall serve under the new rules of procedure were named last night by Mayor Lane. They are seven in number, and are as follows:

Committee on Finance and Public Expenditures—Daniel Logan (chairman), Benjamin F. Hollinger, Robert W. Shingle.

Committee on Highways, Bridges and Public Improvements—Robert W. Shingle (chairman), Charles N. Arnold, William A. Hahn.

Committee on Parks, Playgrounds and Schools—Benjamin F. Hollinger (chairman), Daniel Logan, Robert Horner.

Committee on Civil Service and Police—Robert Horner (chairman), William A. Hahn, William Larsen.

Committee on Fire and Electric Systems—Charles N. Arnold (chairman), Benjamin F. Hollinger, William Larsen.

Committee on Water and Sewer Systems—William Larsen (chairman), Robert Horner, Charles N. Arnold.

Committee on Sanitation and Health—William A. Hahn (chairman), Robert W. Shingle, Daniel Logan.

PIE FILINGS AND CATSUP UP ON SUSPICION

Certain brands of catsup and fruit fillings for pies and tarts, which are manufactured by mainland firms and which are being brought into the territory in large quantities, will form the basis of a campaign of inspection to be waged by A. W. Hansen, federal food commissioner for Hawaii.

Aside from receiving information from a coast office to the effect that the brands of catsup and fruit filling are of the very poorest quality, Commissioner Hansen has been instructed by the prosecuting division of the bureau of chemistry in Washington, D. C., to take official samples of the products and forward them to the bureau for official analysis.

"In case the analysis shows any violations of the law, the manufacturers will be prosecuted," Mr. Hansen said today. "I intend to take samples of these products which recently have been shipped to Honolulu."

Commissioner Hansen also has under investigation certain patent medicines which are to be examined for alleged false and fraudulent claims as to their curative qualities.

THEATRICAL OFFERINGS LITTLE BIT OF EVERYTHING IN TEAL COMPANY'S LATEST MELANGE

"Almost a Hero" is also almost a night. Hazel Lake, the girl with the movable physiognomy and the flying blonde locks, and Roy Kinslow, the juvenile dancer, furnish their best performances since coming here. Mr. Kinslow is a plumber, Miss Lake a maid (and a maid with extremely short skirts and dashing ways), and their juvenile love-making, some of it to music and some to haphazard dialogue, gives the audience much opportunity for applause.

Fritz Fields is the married man who goes fishing instead of to war, and Claude Kelly is his father-in-law. Some of their dialogue is good and the situations are farcical in the extreme. Raymond Teal is there with another sidesplitting performance as a negro butler-cook, and his specialty, done in ramble style, gets him a big and deserved hand. A couple of his jokes aren't entirely palatable, but they get the laughs in the general gale that he creates.

Two graceful dances are done by Mildred Manning and chorus, Miss Manning appearing most diaphanously clad, the interest of the audience apparently being largely centered on trying to find out whether it was more than a barefoot dance.

"Safety First" is the bill beginning Thursday.

ASKS PERMISSION TO USE SCHOOL FOR HIS CLASSES AFTER HOURS

Permission to allow Catholic priests to give instructions in government schools after school hours will be sought in a letter to the mayor, which was read last night to the board of supervisors. The letter is from Father Patrick of the local Catholic mission.

"Owing to the distance of some schools from the Catholic churches in the city, many children are unable to attend religious instructions. In order to obtain greater facility for those children, I ask your honor to submit to the board of supervisors my petition to allow the Catholic priests to give religious instructions at the government schools after school hours."

"Thanking you in advance for your kind regards, I remain,
Yours truly,
"FATHER PATRICK."

The two divisions of the eighth grade held a picnic last Saturday at Kahala beach. Nearly every member of the class and a number of invited guests were present and all spent a fine day swimming, canoeing and playing games.
